

DBA8500 : Doctoral Project Evaluation

Students in this course demonstrate the skill in reflection and assessment. The projects will be screened for promising practices, change models that may be more effective, and new elements of leadership development that emerged in the project implementation process. Models of project assessment based on the research methodologies will be explored and selected for an assessment of the project design and implementation. Peer and TBA feedback will be provided.

Credits 2