

HUM102 : Ethics and Public Policy

An introduction to the philosophical study of morality. Students will study the evolution of ethical concepts, why people believe what they believe, and how to use moral theories to define their own sense of right and wrong behavior. Students will examine contemporary moral issues and learn to create and articulate a personal position on public policy solutions.

Credits 3