BUS100 : Introduction to Business

Introduction to the functional areas of modern business. Topics will include analyzing the business environment, management theory, organizational structure, marketing, finance and accounting, human resource management, and information systems.

Credits 3