

BUS104 : Meditation, Mindfulness, and Business Leadership

This course provides students with a theoretical introduction to the practice of meditation and mindfulness from different scientific, spiritual, and cultural traditions as it relates to and accentuates the quality of more traditional concepts of Business Leadership. Students will examine the psychology of attention and how it can play a significant role in the quality of leadership in business.

Credits 3