BUS498 : Business Administration Capstone I

A culminating project, completed individually or in teams, where students synthesize what they have learned in the program, and how transpersonal psychology can be applied and examine a real-world problem in business. In part I students will define the scope of the project, review the literature from which the problem emerges, and gather any information or data needed. If possible, students will select a local business or government sponsor for the project.
Credits 3