

WILI5000A : Work Integrated Learning Internship

This course presents a significant WIL experiential learning opportunity, typically with a company or community-based organization. The internship represents an educational strategy that links classroom learning coupled with the acquisition of knowledge in an applied work setting. The internship in a company is mapped to an experienced-based class that enables reflection and contemplation of business skills applied in the real-world environment. Classroom assignments enable critical reflection on the WIL internship experience and how it addresses specific MBA/MSCS Program Learning Outcomes.
