

MTP8207* : Sustainability, Culture, and Sacred Ecology

Understand, through an eco-psychological lens, the origins of human beings, who human beings are, and what communities human beings comprise. Introduce the concepts of sustainability from a new, broader systems-thinking approach and from a sacred, ancient Native-peoples approach. Engage the material through several ways of knowing: reading, listening, watching, experiencing, reflecting, and creating. Reimagine a new ecologically conscious community.
