

PSY20300 : Aging and Long-Term Care

This course examines the individual, familial, and social implications of aging from clinical, diversity, biopsychosocial, and transpersonal perspectives. This 10-hour course fulfills the State of California requirement for training in aging and long-term care. The student will consider how the aging process affects the physical, social, cognitive, emotional, economic, and spiritual dimensions of human life. This coursework includes instruction on the assessment and reporting of, as well as treatment related to, elder and dependent adult abuse and neglect.